

Nirma grads get plum offers

Placement fair sees highest package of Rs9.5 lakh pa

Sandeep Bhardwaj

The Nirma Institute of Management (NIM) placement festival turned out a virtual carnival for students with corporates from across the country and abroad taking special interest in them.

The highest pay package of a hefty Rs9.5 lakh-plus per annum was seen as deserved recognition for the students and the institute's administration alike.

"The placement fair saw 100% placement for 120 students who attended it," said NIM director prof Upinder Dhar. "The success is a reflection of the quality of the students and the university."

"There was a difference in job profiles that were offered this year. There were many more finance and consulting job offers, highly sought-after by management students, this year," said Nirma University executive chairman NV Vasani.

The hiring companies included Accenture, IBM, Hewlett-Packard and Vodafone. "The fair was held between November 22 and 26,

Celebration time

Fair held between November 22 and 26, but all students get offers by 24 November

The hiring companies included Accenture, IBM, Hewlett-Packard and Vodafone

Average salary surged to Rs7 lakh from Rs5.7 lakh last year

NIM became associated with Nirma University in '03 but almost all students got offers by 24 November," said professor Dhar. The average salary surged to Rs7 lakh from Rs5.7 lakh last year. NIM was established in 1996 and became associated with Nirma University in 2003.